The Department of Education Policy and Leadership focuses on preparing educators for leadership roles in complex educational settings. Coursework and systematic applications of knowledge are designed to ensure that the education leaders of tomorrow are able to develop and support effective teachers and other education service providers; to select and implement effective curricula and instructional programs; and to identify, implement and sustain effective organizational practices to ensure high levels of student learning and achievement. In service to this mission, the department offers the following Master of Education degrees: an

All of the courses in the program of study are based on the Texas standards for Field Experience and Student Teaching. The teacher education program includes extensive field experience to help students prepare for careers in teaching. A personal/criminal background check is required prior to field experience and student teaching. The student progresses from observational activities in classrooms to teaching and learning practice sessions in early field experiences with individual students and small groups. Finally, during student teaching, the student assumes responsibility for an entire classroom in a carefully managed student-teaching experience. SMU students receive mentoring from faculty members noted for their exemplary records as both master teachers and scholars. Exemplary teachers from inner city to suburban settings also act as coaches during the field experience. Part of

Sport Management Concentration

Due to the explosion of interest in sport as a business, curricula to prepare management professionals are growing in number and prevalence. Further, as the business of sport becomes more complex, the preparation of professionals has become increasingly sophisticated, relying heavily on successful business theories and principles.

The academic discipline of sport management draws significantly on valid research and practices from organization and information management systems, including: budgeting, accounting, managing events, managing personnel and facilities, controlling, directing, evaluating, leading, writing, selling, working with media, developing publications, keeping game notes and statistics, interviewing, promoting, advertising, and fundraising.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT THEORY AND PRACTICE

SMU Mediation and Arbitration Center

www.smu.edu/MediationClinic

Mediation and arbitration services are available to parties involved in a dispute. Alumni, current students of the Dispute Resolution Program who have completed at least 200 training hours and other conflict resolution professionals serve as volunteer mediators and arbitrators.

Parties may use SMU's mediation services either before or after a lawsuit is filed. Parties may contact SMU directly to arrange for services, or if a lawsuit has been filed, a judge may order mediation and appoint the center as the mediator. Parties have an equal say in the mediation process and the settlement terms. The mediator has no authority to impose a settlement; if no agreement is reached, the lawsuit continues or is filed. There is no determination of guilt or innocence in this process. Both sides are able to exchange information, express expectations and propose solutions for reaching a resolution. The mediator facilitates this process by helping the parties to communicate clearly and appropriately.

Arbitration is an alternative to litigation that allows parties to have more control over their case but still leaves the ultimate decision about how to resolve the dispute to a neutral third party. The process is similar to a trial but with fewer procedural restrictions. If parties have an arbitration clause in a contract, or just wish to utilize arbitration to settle their dispute, they may contact SMU directly.

Most mediated settlements are completed in one meeting, saving time and money. Legal or other representation is permitted but is not required. A mediated settlement or arbitrated award can be binding upon both parties. Mediation is a confidential process, and communications and settlement discussions cannot be used as evidence in any future court proceedings, except in very limited circumstances. In arbitration, the parties and the arbitrator may choose to restrict or prohibit disclosure of information and evidence presented during the arbitration outside the arbitration process. The parties pay only a minimal administrative fee to SMU for mediation or arbitration.

Center for Family Counseling

www.smu.edu/FamilyCounseling

The Center for Family Counseling delivers developmentally appropriate and culturally sensitive counseling services for families, couples, adults, adolescents and children undergoing varying life circumstances, while providing SMU graduate counseling students with meaningful training experience via supervised therapeutic interactions. Counseling services are designed to assist individuals and groups seeking to enhance their overall life functioning, interpersonal relationships, self-understanding and career satisfaction for optimal well-being.

Center for Child and Community Development

www.smu.edu/cccd

The Center for Child and Community Development is dedicated to the cognitive, affective/social, and cultural development of children in ethnically diverse communities. With both a national and international reach, the center serves this mission through the provision of research-related educational programs and services to schools, families and community organizations.

Center on Communities and Education

www.smu.edu/cce

The mission of the Center on Communities and Education is to close the education gap in low-income communities by providing coordinated resources to support schools and teaching and by using data to drive students' academic success. CCE has four core strategies:

Hands-on work in low-income communities.

Research and evaluation by faculty and students.

Collaboration with local and regional education reform efforts.

Contributions nationwide to the practice of education transformation.
